For the first time, Byars-Hall has a chorus included in the regular curriculum of the school. Though small in number, this group was well received by all who heard it perform. Performances for the year included participation in two concerts and appearances before the student body, PTA, and County Teachers Association. Several members were privileged to attend the Quad-State Choral Festival at Murray State College in Murray, Kentucky, in the fall. The chorus is expected to grow in size and become one of Byars-Hall's most active organizations. Many thanks and much appreciation to our band director, Mr. Russell Phelps, for this addition to our curriculum.

Track is a sport emphasizing the skill and ability of the individual and especially appeals to those people who have no particular interest in team sports. For the forthcoming year, Coach Peebles is making plans for enlarging the membership of the track team and entering them in more dual track meets. The Coach also has plans for improving the condition of the track.

Ending the season in Third Place for the District, Byars-Hall's season consisted of five wins and four defeats. Because this is a young team (losing only three seniors—Anderson, Patrick, and Robbins) we can foretell promising results in the future. This year's team was sparked by the hard hitting of Dan Bland, and Coach Colley expressed his opinion that the brightest spot for the forthcoming season will be the pitching of Alan Locke.

Prophecy of the Class of '59

In the year 19 hundred and 69;
The '59 grads are having a real gone time.
Spaceways are rockin' between Venus and Mars;
The taxis are Bobby Clement's interplanetary cars,
He stopped his busy daily routine;
To tell about our fellow graduates he had seen.
He told me Beverly Massey is now dying her tresses;
She does it to match each of her new cosmic dresses.
These were chosen from Clarice Baker's famous collection;
First modeled by Duck Teasley and shown to perfection.
James L. Patrick likes his new car;
Run by uranium—just one bar.
Willie Travis, formerly of F.B.I.;
Is now commissioned as an outer space spy.
Annette Branch just broke her limb;
Trying to catch a Martian him.
And if Currie Lavelle has another wreck;
Dr. Ruffin Craig will take the check,
Bill Elam, still writing letters to girls afar;
Keeps a bachelor apartment on a winking star.
As a lady policeman on an eight-hour day;
Nancy Craig is directing traffic through the Milky Way.
Pat Hazelrig and Carolyn Dickey, both with lovely tresses;
As beauticians to spacewomen have achieved successes.

Carolyn is now really a Byrd;
Flying her own jet—that's what we heard.
There goes Johnny Smith in his brand new jet;
He's too fast to be caught by the space girls he's met.
And who should we see as through space we soar;
But friendly Melvin Hill with his portable hardware store.
In our telescope Alice Selph is seen without a care;
Lucky girl, she's hooked herself a multi-millionaire.
If you see a star with a neon sign;
It's Dickie Smith saying, "Pan-Am Time!"
Walter McIntosh now travels from Mars to stars;
Advertising those tasty Milky Way bars.
Orbiting around in her space car so fast;
Glamorous Diane Stephenson has become a star at last.
Remember Shirley and Eudine Crowder?
They've got themselves a moon man; now who could be prouder!
Miss Carol Ann Howles is really a cat;
She now is leading the moon Rockettes.
There goes Nell Hall and we take it for granted;
She has lots of fellows on every planet.
Gene Atkins and J. H. Ervin always flying through space;
Share the honors in every souped-up rocket race.
Venus, the ancient goddess of love and beauty;
Ain't got nothing on Carolyn Davis, planetary cutie.

Jerry Creasy an Einstein may very well be;
Working out problems on planet X-Y-Z.
Betty Sue Russell is busy with charm and beauty;
For being Miss Universe is her new duty.
When we see a winged jeep up in the skies;
It must be Wise Smith—being unwise.
Guylene Carter got her start as a soda-jerkery;
Now she owns a super drug store on the planet Mercury.
Hughey and Gilbreath run a market "Big Star";
With groceries delivered by a special rocket car.
Nadine Turner and Marcille Travis are preparing to go to Pluto;
To enlist in Burton Newman's classes of Judo.
As we zoom through space, we see Harold Parker;
The space kids' favorite barker.
"Dragnet of the Stars" is a sensational TV hit;
Frank Smith has a new partner—Ralph's in the skit.
If you ever make a trip to Venus;
Call up Alice McCullough, their intellectual genius.
Norman Wilkerson is a wizard at growing money trees;
Bobby White's in a panic, raking the green leaves.
And who should to our wondering eyes appear;
But Bobby Sasser, John Reeves, and a chorus of "dear."
Still on earth are Carolyn Bryson and Diane Mills;
Feeding their children Carter's Little Liver Pills.
In Hawaii lives Miss Dolly Glass;
Doing the Hula in a skirt of grass.

Helen Edmonds sailed the ocean, too;
And caught her a man in Navy blue.
Lola Webb is doing her very best;
She got a man from way out west.
An elementary teacher is Mary Catherine Cook;
The things she teaches aren't found in a book.
John Mathis sleeps through Congress each Session;
Bob Gasson finds engineering a noble profession.
Scotty Baxter's job is forming monopolies;
He cornered the market in beat-up jalopies.
Larry Cullum's business has become a sensation;
He's the coolest plumber in the rock-and-roll nation.
An X-ray technician was Lila Thurmond's ambition;
Now she's happy at Mayo's in a top ranking position.
For strawberries at their best go see;
Sanford, the Farmer, at Rialto, Tennessee.
Ann Richardson and Kaye Owens are the heads of big firms;
That are ridding the world of those "infernal" germs.
Barbara Davis still visits Dr. Mary Mac to see;
Why in the universe she can't find a he.
Vince Tapp is now a devoted inventor;
Trying to change spring into winter.
Meredith Bryson, a painter in Venice;
Paints modern art pictures that aren't a menace.
Now we know television has really gone mad;
We've seen John Cooksey—he's a toothpaste ad.

Here's a king without a star in his crown;
It's Bennie Glass, the Big Top's funniest clown.
Rose Ann Morris, a redhead, Edna Wright, a blond;
Are tied for first place in the talkathon.
Barbara Huffman and Ann McQuiston, the studious kind;
Are still thinking hard and their answers are fine.
In basketball no player's hotter;
Than Jerry Robbins, now a globe trotter.
Ronnie Anderson stepped upon the mound to pitch;
But all of a sudden, he got the seven year itch.
Richard Jackson can be in big league baseball no more;
He tried to convince an umpire to give him strike four.
We're off to the races to see Hensley and Hadley;
They're jockeys who're pounding their horses quite madly.
Cute Yvonne Shelley made quite a splash;
While singing away in a Broadway smash.
Doris Burgess, skillful and tall;
Made a small fortune from basketball.
Nora Billings wanted to be a nurse;
But she wound up driving a hearsie.
Mad scientist, Hyatt Williams, is at it still;
Will he finish us off with his new pill?
There goes a stylish model, Miss Sheila Hill;
The results are pleasing, but think of the bill.
Wayne Watkins and Linda Wortham are still in a trance;
They're trying real hard to learn how to dance.

High school romances sometimes come through;
Eddie and Nan have proved that it's true.
Harriet Cobb has always been as sweet as honey;
And look what it got her—a great big bunny—Rabbit.
A Wright blushing bride is our Mary Ann;
Every night they eat out—of a tin can.
Patricia Beasley's house is spick and span;
Since she's a devoted Betty Crocker fan.
Melvin Rickard and his cuz, Prof. Joe;
Are working on a formula for technicolor snow.
A picture of grace and habits well-bred;
Elise Moore never let honors go to her head.
Darrel Rogers is a real cool poet;
He wrote a best seller, but was too gone to know it.
Carol Ballard wanted to be a math teacher;
But she made a good wife to a lucky preacher.
Knee deep in church work is sweet Lollie Mills;
At every convention she leads the Sword Drills.
Since being a Williams was her ambition;
The plans of Anna Rickman have come to fruition.
A telephone operator is Carolyn Stiles;
She is very efficient around all dials.
Deep in the jungle is Nadine Walk;
She's teaching the monkeys how to talk.
To a suitable verse Ken Anderson would never consent;
But the annual shipment finally had to be sent.
