such a heart as you."

MEMORIES

IN YEARS TO COME WHEN YOU LONG TO TRAVEL BACK
AND TREAD AGAIN THE OLD FAMILIAR TRACK--
GET OUT YOUR BOOK OF DAYS LONG PAST,
AND GAZE AGAIN UPON THAT DEAR OLD SENIOR CLASS.

REMEMBER FRESHMAN DAYS SO VERY GAY,
WHEN THERE WAS LITTLE WORK AND LOTS OF PLAY--
TO YOU THE WHOLE WORLD WAS FUN,
YOU NEVER GAVE A THOUGHT TO WORK THAT WENT UNDONE.

IT WAS ALMOST WITH A SIGN
THAT YOU SAW THE FRESHMAN YEAR SLIP BY-- THEN CAME SOPHOMORE YEAR WITH ALL ITS LAUGHS AND TEARS,
THE MEM'RY OF THOSE HECTIC DAYS HAS LASTED
THROUGH THE YEARS.

REMEMBER THE BANQUET YOU GAVE IN YOUR JUNIOR YEAR--
THAT VISION IS STILL VERY CLEAR--
OVER THE ENTRANCE STOOD A GREAT BIG HEART
FROM START TO FINISH IT WAS A WORK OF ART.

NOW YOU'RE A SENIOR WITH A SUPERIOR AIR,
AT LAST YOU'VE BEGUN TO HAVE A CARE--
"AULD LANG SYNE" YOU'RE BEGINNING TO CROON
COMMENCEMENT WEEK COMES ALL TOO SOON.

THE LIGHTS BEGIN TO FLICKER LOW,
WHILE MEMORIES LEAVE A PLEASANT GLOW--
YOU CLOSE YOUR BOOK AND BLOW OUT YOUR LAMP OF DREAMS,
FOR NOW YOU HAVE TRAVELED AGAIN THOSE FAR-OFF SCENES.

CLASS PROPHECY

On my vacation from my job as the first woman Secretary of State, I, Mildred Gillihan, decided to tour the country. While making the tour I was quite surprised to encounter many of my classmates of 1947 scattered all over the good old U. S.

It was a cold day in the year 1957 when my vacation began. I had a few pressing matters to settle before I could leave. Therefore, my secretary, Alma Dolan and I had to rush to catch the plane to New York.

We were thrilled when we found that the stewardess on our plane was Annie Lou Bomar. She told us that the pilot was Jerry McDow, who incidentally owned the airlines.

Upon arriving in New York we were lucky enough to get a taxi to take us to the Fletcher Hotel operated by none other than our old classmate, Arvis.

That night, desiring to see the sights of old New York, we hailed a taxi. When the taxi driver turned out to be "Bub" Cole, we knew we would really be shown around.

First we went to "Bubbles' Paladium," that new Broadway night club operated by none other than Billy Fred Pickard. He welcomed us personally and led us to a ring side table where we could see everything that went on.

The orchestra leader, Bobby Sawyer, waved when he saw us and his vocalist Mary Jo Moore, sang our favorite songs.

When we grew tired of swing music, we went to the Metropolitan Opera House to hear that brilliant new soprano, Mary Sue Trobaugh.

Returning to the hotel we found that the night clerk was Ruby Jean Craig and although it was in the early hours of the morning, we just had to chat a few minutes.

She told us of another schoolmate of ours, Donald Beaver, the American Ambassador to Russia, who was also staying at the hotel.

Next day we said goodbye to New York and took off for Memphis.

Over Chicago we were amazed to hear a whiz-z-z and see a streak of color. The stewardess told us it was only the rocket plane invented by that brilliant scientist, Luther Higgins.

At the airport at Memphis we saw why the weather had always been predicted correctly. The weather "Man" was none other than Mary Hilda Bray.

We asked her if she knew of any of our classmates, and she told us Mildred Fiveash and Floy Jones were working in department stores. Mary Parnell was a librarian at Cossitt Library and also on the side, a well known poet.

Taking a quick trip to Munford we visited a few of our classmates. Nadine is still happily married to Mr. Yarbrow and really enjoys being a house wife. We also visited Sara Cullum's new drug store.

Missing our plane, we decided to drive to New Orleans and listen to the radio on the way.

Our favorite programs were "News up to Now" by that brilliant commentator, Clarence Wiseman, and "The Quiz Kids" conducted by that walking encyclopedia, Eleanor Cousar. The most brilliant child prodigy was the son of Sidney Hicks. Remembering our old classmate, we surmised that the child must have a brilliant mother.

Another enjoyable program was the soap opera, "June's Third Wife." Betty Jane Forbes has the title role on the radio show and in real life also.

In New Orleans the Mardi Gras was in full swing. Having little hope of finding our classmates in so much gaiety, we decided to have a good time anyway. We hurried to find a costume shop and finally discovered one in the Old French Quarter. The proprietor was Billy Burrough who seeing his visitors were old friends, quickly dropped his phony French accent.

Securing costumes, we rushed to see the big parade, which Ellen Faye Dixon, our former school chum led. She looked very pretty on the first float with her flowing white dress and real gold crown. We wondered if she remembered when as a junior she was Halloween Queen and had a paper crown.

The next morning we left for Florida, hoping to see some more of our classmates.

We were lucky in this, for the first sight we saw at Miami was a great big dog pulling Lillabelle Souder along. It seems while she was at a Beta Convention she met a stray millionaire and decided to marry him rather than live on the farm. Her husband insisted she take the dog walking, but as Lillabelle declared, the dog took her walking.

Back at the hotel we decided to go for a swim. We arrived at the beach just in time to see the life guard, Maurice Hutchison, rescue a beautiful damsel in distress. She proved to be the beautiful bathing beauty, Bonnie Helen Williamson.

Back at the hotel we decided to read our mail.

One of the letters from back home contained a clipping from the "Wilkesville Times." It was an editorial written by the editor Jean Flanigan, in which she urged the citizens to start a petition to have a sewer installed.

When we finally said goodbye to Florida, it was with many regrets, but on the ship (we went by ship through the Panama Canal to San Francisco), we met that celebrated author, Geraldine Ashe. The time passed swiftly as we talked over old times, and before we realized it we were at the Canal.

Until then we had been so busy talking we hadn't noticed the captain of the ship. Imagine our pleasant surprise when we discovered him to be Avris Edmiston.

We were thrilled when arriving in San Francisco, we were each handed a bouquet of flowers by the owner of the florist shop herself, Helen Timbs.

She extended an invitation for dinner from our wealthy friend, Nellie. We never did catch the last name, but she is the former Miss Pinner.

Another guest present was Leonard Riley, who was on his way to China as a missionary.

The next day we bade Nellie a regretful goodbye but we had to be on our way.

The next stop was Hollywood where we were to watch the filming of that new picture "Boys Are Wonderful" starring Mary Frances Webb and directed by Roland Moore.

On the set we glimpsed the top photographer, Sam Woodbury, talking to one of the actresses, Mary Lou Sherrill.

When he saw us he rushed over and asked if there was anything we wanted to see. He told us the child stars were in school, but he was sure the teacher, Lenvil Beaver, would allow us to visit the class. We spent a half day there and learned many things we'd forgotten. Our stay there was very pleasant, but time was growing short, so we had to leave.

Our plane ran out of gas a few miles from Reno and the pilot made a forced landing. It just so happened we landed on the dude ranch owned and operated by Billy Bomar.

Since it would take a good while to secure gasoline all of the passengers went into the ranch house. As we entered, the president of the United States, Coen Trobaugh, Jr. was beginning a speech on the radio.

We decided to listen to the radio some more after the president finished speaking. The best program we could find was "Dixie Land" of which the master of ceremonies was that southern girl with the southern drawl, Flossie English.

The next stop was at St. Louis where we went through the Starnes' packing plant and stock yard. Vearl Porter showed us around himself. We felt honored that the president of the biggest firm should take time to do this.

He even took us back to the airport where we caught the plane for Washington, D. C.

We were met by the Congresswoman, Imojean Johnson, who was anxiously waiting to hear what we had heard and seen.

Though we were tired after such a long trip we were extremely glad to discover what had happened to every classmate of 1947.

CLASS WILL

We, the class of May, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Forty-Seven, A. D. of Munford High School, City of Munford, County of Tipton, State of Tennessee, being of sound bodies and sane minds (?) in order that our loss will not be felt too keenly by the teachers and students of said Munford High School, do hereby leave our most prized possessions, regardless of how they were acquired, to the faculty and students of the aforesaid Munford High School, advising that these hereditaments be respectfully received and dutifully cherished.

ARTICLE I

To Mr. C. T. Willis, our beloved principal, we will and bequeath the hope that next year's senior class will be at least one-half as intelligent, one-third as attractive, one-fourth as studious, one-fifth as cooperative, and one-sixth as well liked as the class of 1947.

We sincerely hope that Mr. Willis doesn't take it too hard when he sees it is impossible for them to reach this standard that we have set.

ARTICLE II

To Mrs. Mary Glynn Connelly we leave the hope that her marriage will turn out swell and that she won't forget the senior class of 1947.

ARTICLE III

To Mr. Shannon Faulkner we leave the hope that next year's history class won't make such bad grades.

ARTICLE IV

The dignified seniors of 1947 will and bequeath the following items to the juniors, sophomores, and freshmen.

Section 1

We the seniors leave the two outside rows of seats to the juniors. May they fill them as well as we did.

Section 2

I, Lillabelle Souder, leave the task of announcing the Beta Club meetings to W. H. Milligan. Be sure to make them correct the first time, W. H.

Section 3

We, Don Beaver and Clarence Wiseman, leave our debating genius to anyone who has the brains, voice, and will power to handle it.

Section 4

I, Mary Frances Webb, leave my love for men to any poor girl who can stand a broken heart.

Section 5

I, Sara Cullum leave my shorthand worries to the future shorthand class. It's enough for any one of them.

Section 6

I, Flossie English, leave my southern drawl to Jerry Gross. Now, Jerry, you can really be a southern belle.

Section 7

I, Arvis Fletcher, will my seat in the Beta Club to anyone who can make the grade.

Section 8

I, Mildred Gillihan, leave my A's to Roy Martin. No more worries now, Roy.

Section 9

I, Leonard Riley, will some of my height to Norris Webb. Thank me, Norris.

Section 10

I, Eleanor Cousar, will my long blonde hair to Nellie Baddour. Take care of it, Nellie.

Section 11

I, Charles Cole, will my technique of copying and getting away with it to any poor underclassman who needs it.

Section 12

I, Imojean Johnson, will my Sunday night dates to Mary Sue Forbes. Get busy, Tandy!

Section 13

I, Jerry McDow, will my red shirt to Allen Wooten. Now, you'll rate with Mary Sue, Allen.

Section 14

I, Mary Lou Sherrill, will my blue eyes to Gloria. Won't that be cute, Gloria?

Section 15

I, Roland Moore, will my ability to go places on roller skates to Melvin Gillihan. I hope you don't go to some of the places I did, Melvin.

Section 16

I, Luther Higgins, will my car to anyone who will bring Alice Walden to school every morning.

Section 17

I, Mary Hilda Bray, will my typing ability to Marie Fletcher. Come on Marie, you'll have to work.

Section 18

I, Mary Sue Trobaugh, leave Ralph to Joy Rowland. Joy, take as good care of him as I did.

Section 19

I, Nellie Pinner, will "huggin' and Chalkin'" to Mary Sue Montgomery. Better start reducin', Mary Sue.

Section 20

I, Faye Stimpson, will my quiet ways to Martha Wooten.

Section 21

I, Sam Woodbury, leave all the hot air I have blown off these past years to heat the school building during the winter months.

Section 22

I, Betty Jane Forbes, leave school as soon as possible since he has been gone several years.

Section 23

I, Helen Timbs, leave my ability to do nothing, say a lot, and get in good with everyone to Guelda Proctor.

Section 24

I, Sidney Hicks, will my good times at box suppers with Mary Ann Baxter to Roy Martin. Have fun, Roy, I did!

Section 25

I, Floy Jones, leave my "flying walk" to Myra Jane Fletcher. Pep up, Myra, it might help.

Section 26

I, Avris Edmiston, will my quiet ways to Roy Arthur. You'll have to stop flirting, Roy.

Section 27

I, Bonnie Williamson, bequeath my pointless jokes to any dope who wishes to amuse himself.

Section 28

I, Vearl Porter Starnes, will my love for Sadie to Joe Hanks.

Section 29

I, Mary Jo Moore, will my blonde hair, basketball talent, and ability to argue with Mr. Faulkner without getting mad, to June Moore. Make good use of them, June. I did.

Section 30

I, Coen Trobaugh, leave my "hand-holding" ability to any love-struck fellow who can get by with it.

Section 31

I, Bobby Sawyer, leave my ability to love only one at a time to Ed Scott.

Section 32

I, Billy Bomar, having lost everything, have nothing to will or bequeath.

Section 33

I, Ruby Jean Craig, leave my pair of wings and halo to Sadie Crigger. That's probably the only way you'd ever get one, Sadie.

Section 34

I, Mildred Fiveash, will my black hair to Olean Gamble.

Section 35

I, Jean Flanigan, leave my place on the annual staff to some poor, demented junior.

Section 36

I, Maurice Hutchison, leave my glamorous looks to Milton Dunbar, although I have heard he doesn't need them.

Section 37

I, Mary Parnell, leave my ability to write poetry to Billy Glover.

Section 38

I, Geraldine Ashe, will my height to Mary Ann Baxter.

Section 39

I, Alma Dolan, leave anything worth leaving except the men. I want to take all of them with me.

Section 40

I, Nadine Yarbrow, leave the hope that Bobbie Forbes will graduate next year safe, sound and single--I didn't.

Section 41

I, Lenvil Beaver, leave my love for eating to my sister, Shirley.

Section 42

I, Billy Fred Pickard, leave everything but Jean. After all, I can't leave my heart.

Section 43

I, Annie Lou Bomar, leave my "swing and sway" to anyone who can stand the strain.

Section 44

I, Billy Burrough, will all of the nickels I have spent to hear "Anniversary Waltz" to support the school next year.

Section 45

I, Ellen Faye Dixon, will my boy friend to anyone who will have him. Wait, Myra Jane, I didn't mean it.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL TEAM

A LIMITED WORLD MUST BE BUILT BY AN UNLIMITED YOUTH

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The 1946-47 girls' basketball team of Munford High School is composed of twelve girls, namely:

Mary Ann Baxter - the short captain of the team.

Mary Jo Moore - the blonde sharp-shooter.

Mary Sue Trobaugh - an attractive blonde who is quite adept at passing the ball.

Sue Burgett - another ball-playing Burgett upholding the family tradition.

Polly McMillin - an asset to any team.

Bessie Hill - a hard worker in every game.

Sara Betty Origger - a guard imbued with the proper basketball spirit.

Jean Boswell - small but fast.

Martha Wooten - the "Penny Pringle" type with basketball ability.

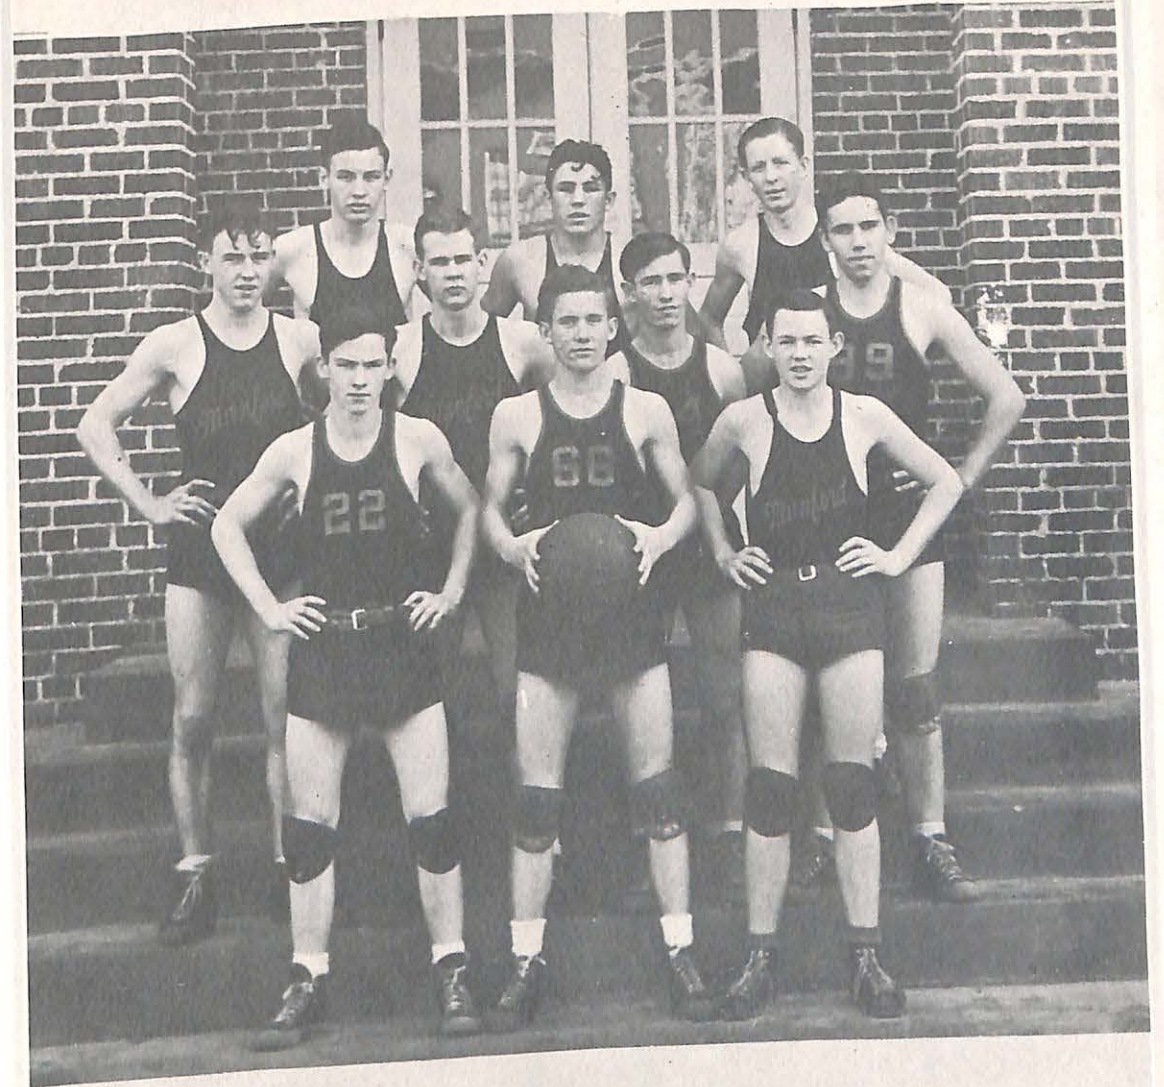

Jerry Gross - a guard who came to us from California.

Olean Gamble - a little red-head who shows promises of becoming a star.

Nellie Baddour - a sophomore forward.

Coach - William Bibb
