Dear Mom & Dad,
I hope you're all well.
I'm doing pretty good here.
I've been thinking about you a lot lately. I miss the old days. I hope you
all are happy and healthy.
I'll be home soon.

The Pacesetters

The pace for activities, curriculum honors, and sports at Covington High School is set by the student body.

Whether we say "yea" or "nay" to such things as spirited pep rallies, team effort, clubs, dress codes, a school newspaper, or a yearbook determines whether these things can exist at our school.

On the following pages we have pictured students who have helped set the pace at Covington High School - some are well-known to everyone, others may not be - but each is a PACESETTER.

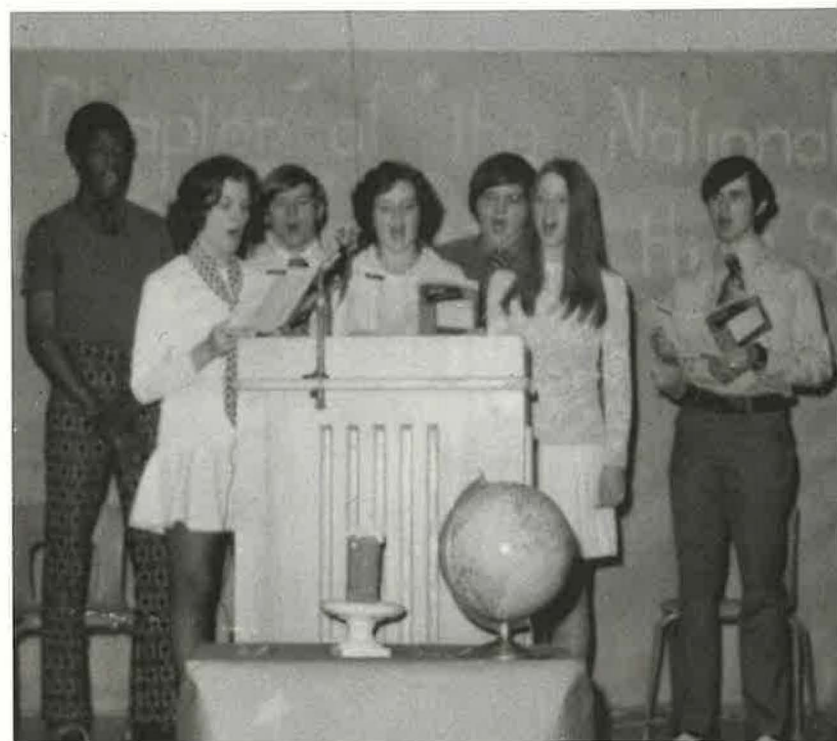

GREGG WILLIAMS
Tennessee FFA Vice-President

We had many opportunities to choose those students whom we wanted to represent us, whom we wanted to recognize for their achievements, and those whom we just plain like.

During the first semester class officers were elected.

As the football season drew to a climax, the team selected Charl Lynn Blalack as their Homecoming Queen. Elected to serve as her court were Tiny Rose and Belinda Simmons.

BELINDA SIMMONS AND TINY ROSE
Homecoming Maids

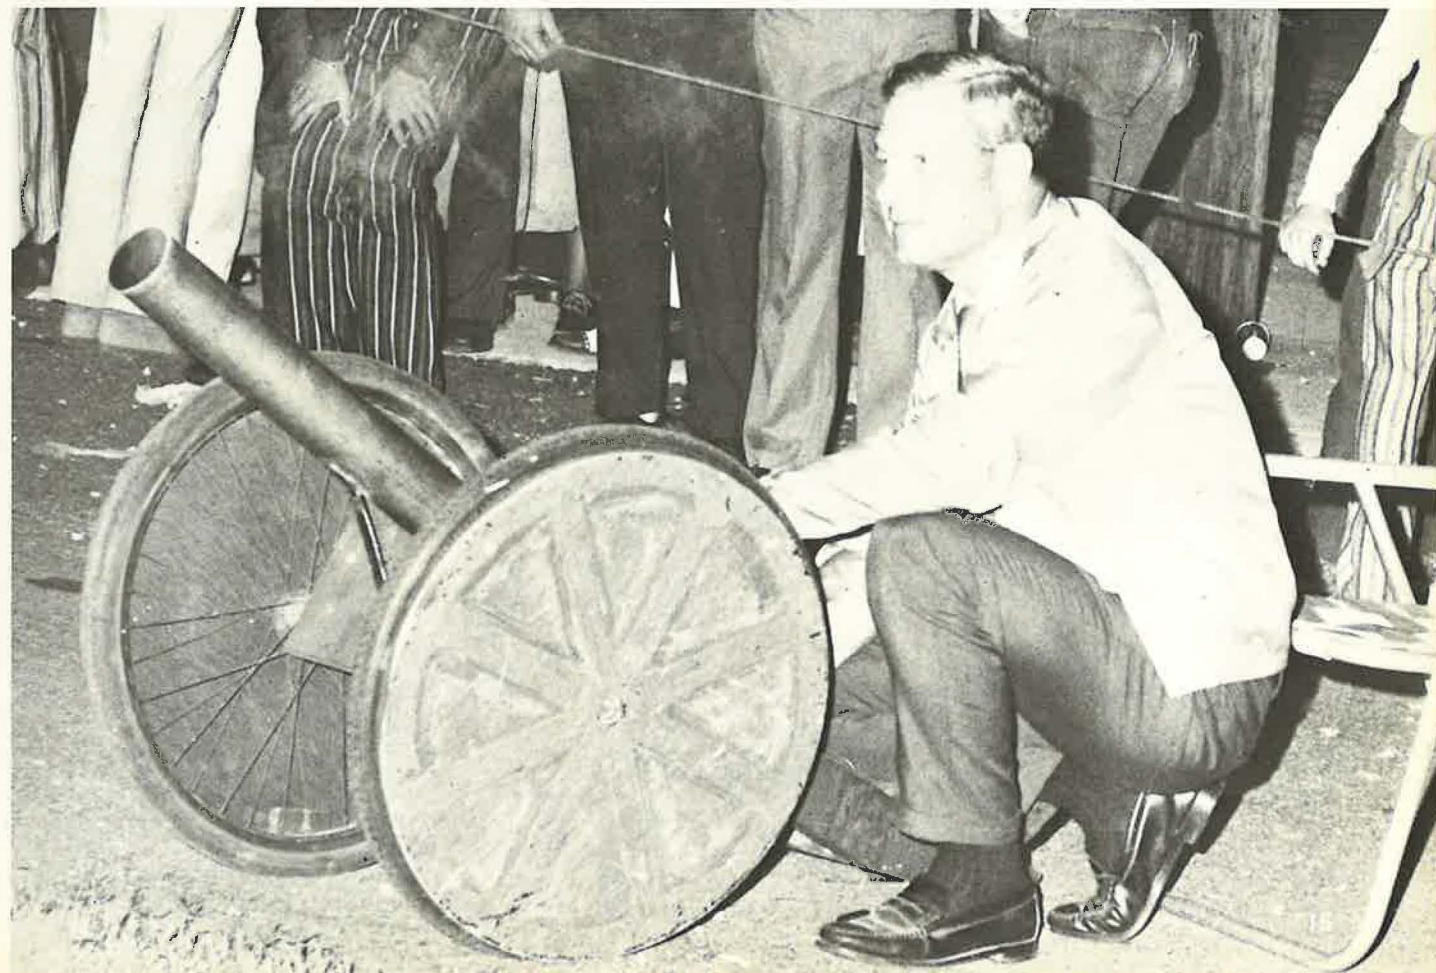

Toward the end of the school year six students were chosen delegates to Boys' and Girls' State. The qualifications for a representative are that he or she be in the top third of the Junior Class and show honor, courage, good character, and leadership.

Attending from our school were Theresa Kincaid, Patricia Payne, Georgie Goldsmith, John Owen, Shelby Burrell, and Aubrey Oliver. Alternates were Debbie Long, Velma Woodland, Theresa Rylant, Jim Edmonds, Leon Teamer, and Mike Lunceford.

CYNDI TANNER
Campus Leader

LARRY ALBRITTON
Campus Leader

Because the annual staff felt that the Seniors who had been leaders throughout their four years in high school should be honored, we sponsored an election for the Senior class to select those Campus Leaders.

This year's Campus Leaders are well-liked students who have been industrious in striving for a better school by assuming their share of responsibility.

Campus Leaders are: Faye Claybon, Gayla Hodge, Penny Liles, Nancy Sanders, Nina Lee Braden, Cyndi Tanner, Charl Lynn Blalack, Jim Baddour, Landon Smith, Ricky Sage, James Marshall Elkins, Warren Rose, Larry Albritton, and Wade Yarbrough.

The Trainers

Helping to set the life style at Covington High School is the faculty. Heading up the school's largest faculty ever is Mr. Glen Cathcart. Assisting him in administrative duties are Mr. Ken Anderson and Mr. Fred Dudley.

Teachers are able to express opinions, air complaints, and have a part in determining some school policy at faculty meetings.

Men faculty members teamed their efforts against the students in a faculty-student basketball game this spring. Their female colleagues cheered them on to victory. Activities like this one help draw the students and faculty closer together.

Mr. Cathcart makes a few remarks at the National Honor Society installation ceremony.

Mr. Dudley splits his time between the chemistry lab and the office.

School Spirit Shown In Office

Remodeling the office was a "bright" spot among the achievements at Covington High School. Purple and gold paint brightened the walls, and a purple and gold carpet covered the hardwood floors.

The addition of two new office aides, Mrs. Linda Gage and Mrs. Tricia Bradley, was a big help to teachers as well as the school secretaries, Mrs. Pauline Yarbrough and Mrs. Barbara Turner. Miss Sharon Yarbrough served her second year as an aide.

Librarians and Guidance Counselors

Mrs. Stanley Shoaf, left, and Mrs. Hattyle Yarbrough, right, made the library a quiet place to study and also kept it full of current books and magazines keyed to student interests.

Mrs. Claudette Smith, lower right, keeps up with the endless paper work to be done in her office. Not pictured is Mrs. Epps, also a guidance counselor.

The Art of Communication

Man has constantly improved his means of communication throughout the ages. The English language is being taught to every student at C.H.S. for four consecutive years. Thus, the communication gap is being dissolved with the help from the teachers and students are advancing in the art of communication. The teachers leading in this advance are - Mrs. Rose Bennett, Mrs. Priscilla Cochran, Mrs. Sally Kaminski, Mrs. Nancy McDonald, Mrs. Mary Pace, Miss Nancy Porter, Mr. David Poindexter, and Miss Beth Bringle.

"I'll try sitting here since you kids spend most of your time looking this way."

Miss Bringle tries to point out the humor in a poem to Charlotte Maitland, but seemingly fails in her attempts.

Prevalent at C.H.S.

A variety of new knowledges awaits the person entering a foreign language course. Although at times the new phrases and forms may become difficult, most students agree that foreign languages are very intriguing.

Mrs. Ann Morton, French I, II, and Miss Martha Lou Bringle, Latin I, II, help to make this language course even more intriguing.

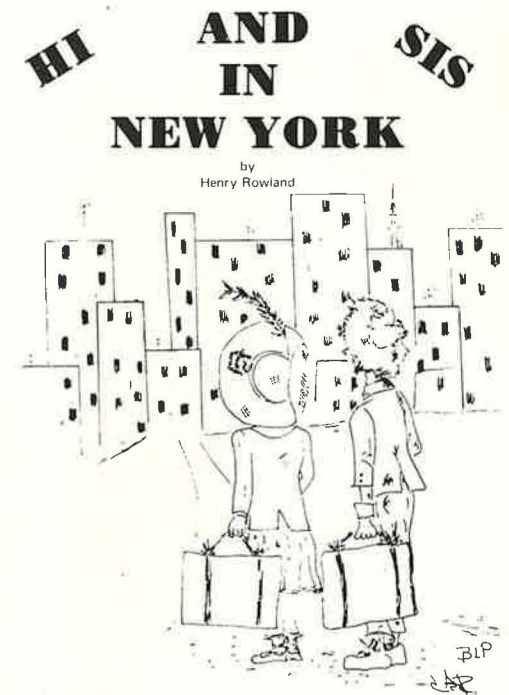

Speech and drama is a new course offered at Covington High School this year, with Mrs. Henry Tipton and Mr. Herbert Sennett opening the doors to the world of the stage.

Mr. Sennett and his 7th period speech class wrote and staged "My Special Vacation" an original play about a teenager's involvement and presented it for the Covington High School Parent Teacher Association.

The first play put on by the new Speech and Drama department was "Hi and Sis in New York." Directed by Mrs. Tipton, this play was a tremendous success and set the pace for future presentations.

Mr. Sennett demonstrates acting procedure.

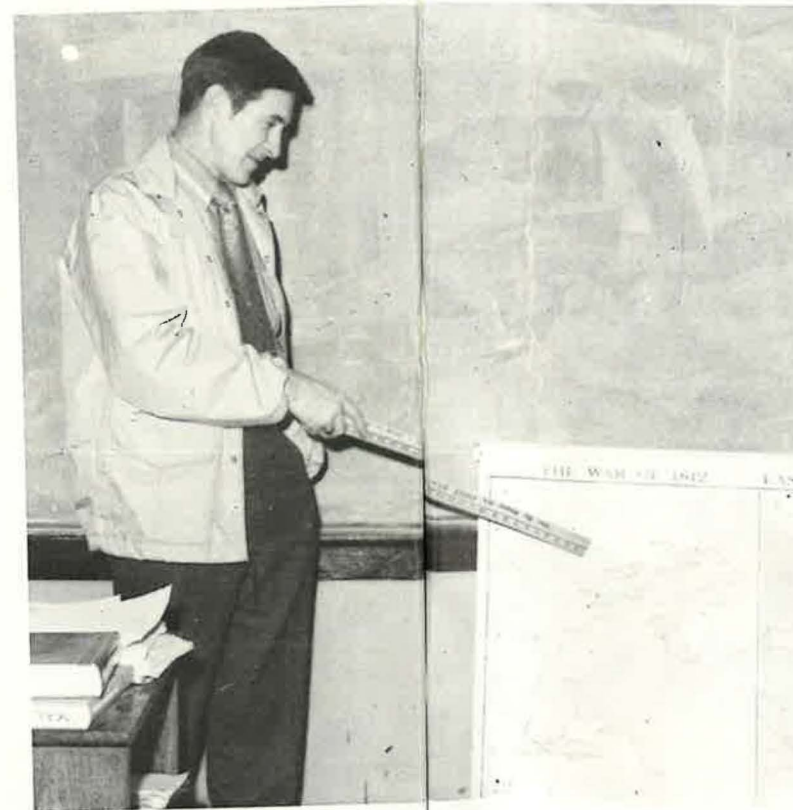

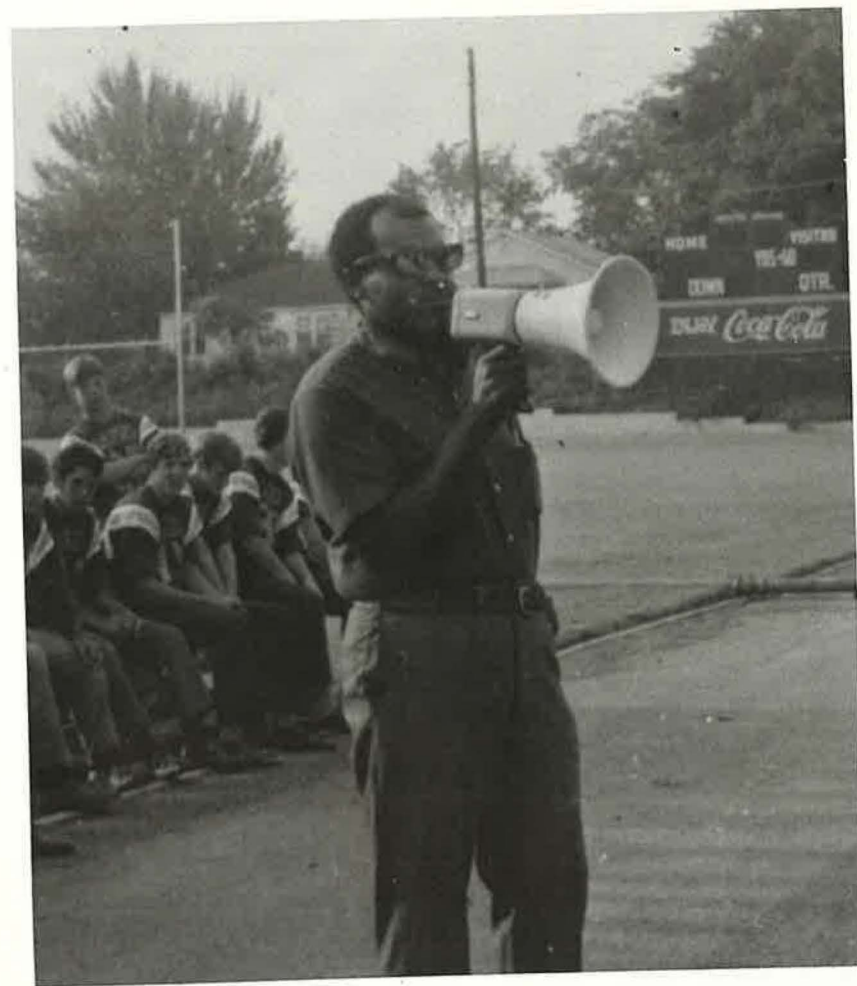

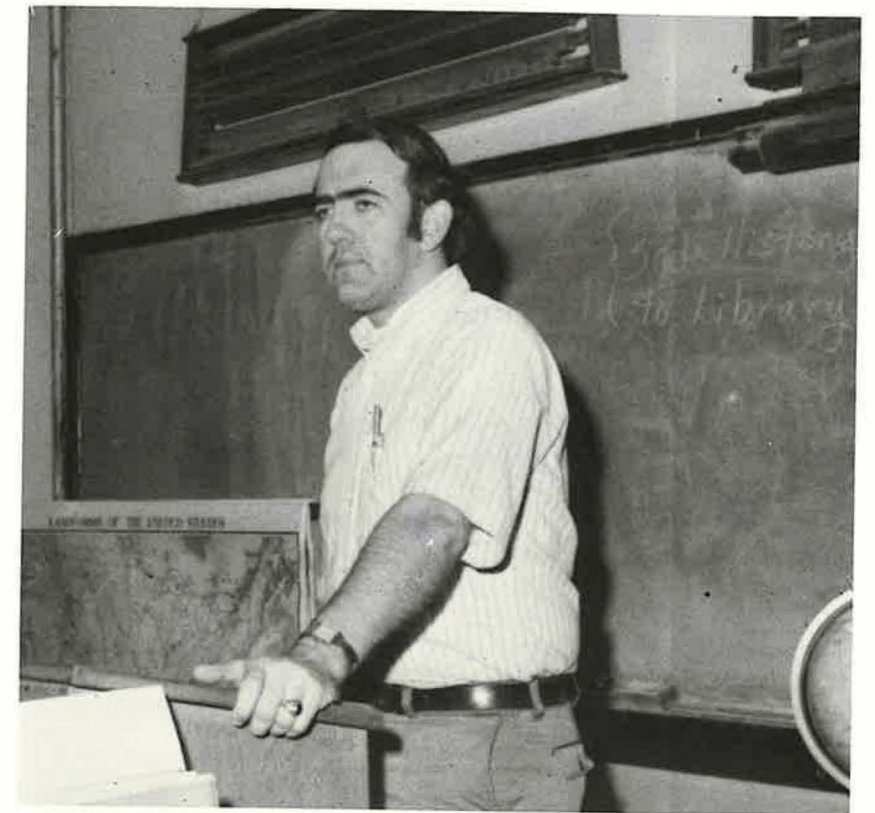

Presented By The
COVINGTON HIGH SCHOOL DRAMA CLUB
March 2 & 3
Little Theatre at Cobb Parr Park

Mrs. Henry Tipton Director
Mr. Herbert Sennett Technical Director

The program from "Hi and Sis" was designed by Laura Ronk and Lynn Petty.

Time Spent in Science Study

From dissecting earthworms to investigating a chemical process, a scientifically minded student can find many hours of work in Covington's Science Department consisting of Mr. Turner Armstrong, Miss Ruth Richardson, Mrs. Audrey Williams, Mr. Fred Dudley and Mr. Robert McMillan.

Knowledge Gained of Past and Present

The social studies courses give students knowledge of past and present events, world geography, international issues, and governmental structures. Everyone in today's complex world needs an understanding of the past and its relations to the present as well as the present and its relations to the future. Such knowledge is thoroughly gained in Covington's Social Studies classes. Teaching these classes are Mrs. Laverne Edwards, Mr. Hal Garland, Miss Janice Hart, Mrs. Irma Smith, Mr. Jerry Gage, Mr. Don Chandler, and Mr. Ken Anderson.

Mathematics Add Up to a Good Year

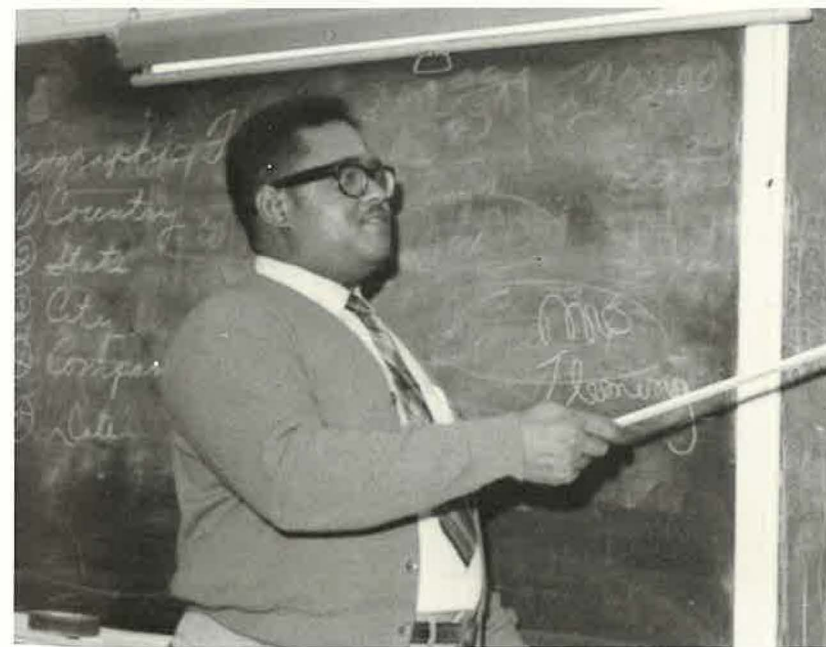

Math is essential to any career a student might choose to enter. Covington students are fortunate to have a wide variety of math courses and a wide variety of teachers. Those involved in these math courses have ways to make one dollar equal two, make a circular pasture, and other interesting subjects. The students at Covington High are grateful for the dedication of their teachers. These teachers are as follows; Mr. John Cochran, Mr. Rodney Hughes, Mrs. Keith Scott, and Mrs. Dorothy Yarbrough.

New Courses for the Business Type

. . . "Remember that Assets = Liabilities + Proprietorship" . . . "Let's get ready for dictation" . . . "Take a five minute writing," . . . These phrases were familiar to students of typing, shorthand, and bookkeeping. Business math was added to the curriculum this year. Reprographics, a course in offset duplicating, was due to be started this year, but never materialized. The teachers this year are: Mrs. Gail Canada, Mrs. Betty Johnson, Mrs. Thelma Moore, and Mr. Robert Sharp, and Mrs. Harriet Fleming.

Vocational Arts

A person seeking a career in specialized fields can find courses to meet his needs at Covington. Home Economics classes offer Covington girls a good background for their adult lives. The class instructors are Mrs. Alice Clements, Miss Geraldine Johnson, Mrs. Annette Petree, and Mrs. Will Ann Watkins.

Boys learn to handle complex machinery and electrical devices in the Shop courses taught by Mr. Gilbert Brown. Agriculture teaches boys the fundamentals of farm production and other essential factors concerning agricultural activities. Directing the agriculture and T & I students are Mr. Lucius Lewers, Mr. Ted Turner, Mr. Thomas Bethel, and Mr. Elton Bryant.

Broaden Future

Music Department On Upward Trend

An extremely talented and dedicated young man is Mr. Russell Phelps. As director of the Chorus and the Band, much time is required outside the regular school hours. Mr. Phelps has led the upward trend in the reputation of Covington High School's Music Department. Both band and chorus have held superior ratings in almost all the competition undergone. Such teachers as Mr. Phelps make the long hours of study and groans of school worthwhile.

Covington High Students Shape Up

"Get dressed" . . . "Hustle up" . . . "One, two, three, one," These and many other phrases are heard constantly around the Covington High gymnasium, during all hours of the day. Directing the girls in a physical fitness program are Mrs. Pauline Huffman and Miss Patricia Taylor. The boys are coached by Mr. Bill Bradley and Mr. Don Dickson.

The Masses

Seniors — Class of '72

May 25, 1972 came all too soon for some seniors and not soon enough for others! Graduation: a long awaited event! After four years of work and play, the Class of '72 met Commencement with mixed emotions. High school brought hard work, lots of fun, and lasting friendships.

"Do you want to fight about it?"

Covington High School's junior class of '72 started the year 242 strong. Through the year they struggled with chemistry, algebra II, and term papers. As a compensation for the difficulties suffered in class, the juniors had the honor of finally becoming upper-classmen. Joining clubs like the National Honor Society and Future Teachers of America enlivened the year and brought closer the hopes of becoming seniors.

Sophomores Class of '74

Innocence over, the class of '74 began its active participation in the school functions at Covington High School. Most were not ready for the power and prestige that the name Sophomore commands, but they had come a long way since they started out as Covington High School's first Freshman class. The worthiest of them plunged head long into the new whirl pool of varsity sports and club membership.

Freshmen

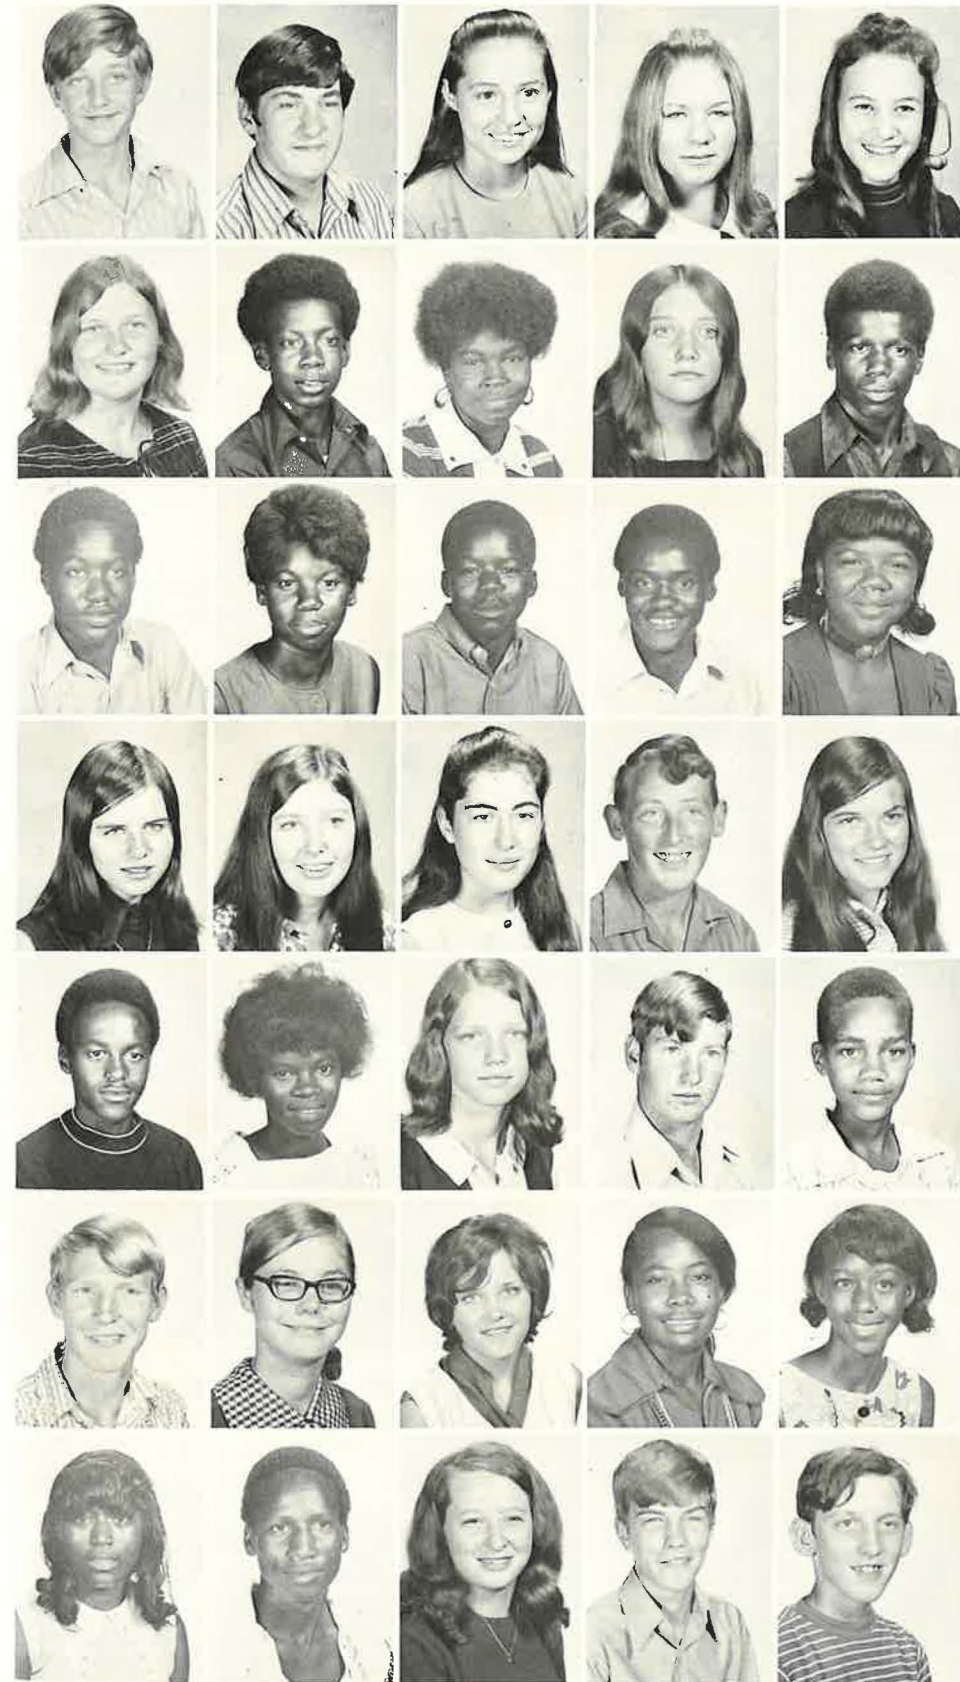

Covington High School's second freshmen class invaded the campus in the hot month of August. While staying within the security of old grammar school friends, freshman eventually felt at home and ventured into new friendships. The female members of the class asserted their authority and elected the following as class officers: Rosalyn Johnson, President; Anna Woods, Vice-President; Alice Mason, Secretary; and Jan Shelton, Treasurer. This year's class was especially eager to be school spirited and participated in activities outside the classroom. Student Council had its share of freshmen as did band, chorus, athletics, and clubs. All in all the freshmen got off to a great start in becoming Covington Chargers !!!

The Headliners

Covington's Chargers put her on the map! All of West Tennessee heard of Covington through Covington High School's athletic department. Proudly presented are Covington's pride, the Headliners.

Football: A Community Effort

Covington Chargers started the season with a spirited effort, and the student body fell into step as the year progressed. School spirit rocketed with the realization that the team was coming closer to a perfect season with each game.

The team's dedication and determination not only boasted school spirit, but sparked enthusiastic support from the entire community. Generous donations from citizens of Covington helped send the bank to Bristol to support the team in the State Playoff. Though the results were disappointing, Charger fans came home proud to be the "Best in the West."

Heroes Sung

Under the direction of four capable coaches, the Covington High Chargers proved to the state of Tennessee that even "hicks from the sticks" could play hard-hitting football. Their leadership and spirit helped make a perfect record through the regular season. Football coaches vibrated spirit at pep rallies by leading "Go Chargers Go." Mark Pace and Allen Johnson kept records for the winning Chargers. The boys that kept our spirit high and our footballs dry were Scooter Roberts, Dewayne Spray, and Bobby Hughes.

Wins, hard work and very firsts were no strangers to the Covington Chargers. Hard work, along with pride, began in the humid month of August and continued through the last days of November. Victories came as early as the first contest of the season with Millington and lasted for eleven straight with an upset win over No. 1 ranked Montgomery Bell Academy of Nashville. As for firsts, the Chargers had plenty. The 1971-72 campaign was filled with ten regular season victories, a Big-Ten Championship, and a runner-up trophy in the TSSAA playoff game.

Led by the bulldozing of Senior tailback, Jim Baddour, and the aerial show of Senior quarterback, Tucker Ashford, the Chargers came on strong from the beginning of the season with a 28-0 thrashing of the Shelby County team, Millington. Then the power-house Chargers invaded Dyersburg's new stadium and returned home with its second win of the season, 36-14. Held scoreless for three quarters by the Green Wave from Tupelo, the Chargers scored twice in the final quarter to end a near disaster. Jim Baddour crossed the goal line from seven yards out on a fourth down and goal to go situation. The other touchdown came when Wade Yarbrough picked off a Tupelo pass to give the Chargers a 14-3 win.

The mighty Chargers had little trouble defeating the remaining seven regular season opponents. The defense played outstanding games giving three more shut-outs: Ripley, 20-0, Savannah 41-0, and Brownsville 48-0, making the Purple and Gold gang's total four. Against Somerville, the Chargers racked up 76 points for a game high of the season. The impressive romp over Big Ten rival Brownsville gave the Chargers a playoff berth against the Big Red from MBA. The No. 3 ranked Chargers went to Nashville to burst MBA's bubble 21-14. Although many people thought chances were slim, the Chargers proved that quickness, determination, effectiveness and pride, not state-poll ranking and size lead to successful seasons and winning games.

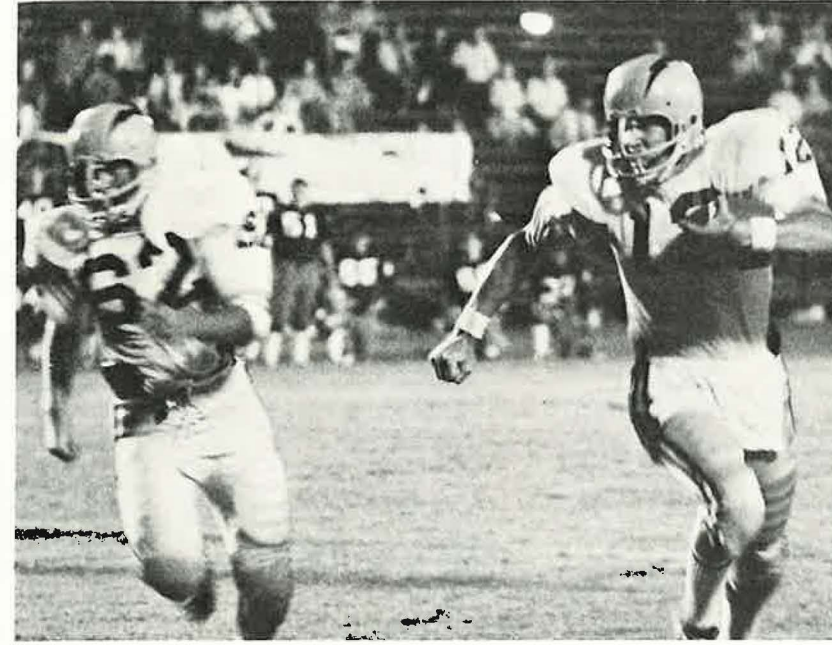

The victory made many people open their eyes and notice the Chargers, along with putting the Chargers into the championship round with Tennessee High at Bristol. A long trip and the Vikings of Bristol were two great obstacles for the Chargers in the championship round. The Chargers gave it all they had in the game, but did not come out on top on the scoreboard. This season will surely be remembered as the year the Chargers were TOPS.

Year's Work Rewarded

Football season ended with happiness, sorrow, and that "no feeling" feeling. Among the happy were Chargers reaping honors. Tucker Ashford, Jim Baddour, Tom Barton, Don Clark, Henry Glass, Leo Smith, and Wade Yarbrough earned places on the All Big-Ten Conference Team. Tucker Ashford, Jim Baddour, and Tom Barton also placed on the All-West Tennessee Football Team. Tucker Ashford obtained the position of quarterback on the All State Team and the COMMERCIAL APPEAL'S All Mid-South Team. Covington's Chargers brought in a harvest of heroes in 1971.

Those Fleeting Moments

Split seconds make all the difference in the game of football. Those fleeting moments were held to the best advantage by Covington's Chargers.

District Champions

Region Champions

Runner-up in Sub-State

LOWER LEFT: Three outstanding seniors led Covington to the District and Regional championships. Lois Burgess, Margaret Taylor, and Joyce Burgess made the All-District, All-Regional teams. Margaret Taylor made Honorable Mention All-West Tennessee while both the Burgess twins made second team All-West Tennessee. Margaret and Joyce led the defense, while Lois led the offense with a 31 point average.

Seasonal Play

UPPER LEFT: Joyce Burgess battles Jackson's Connie Forbis for possession of a rebound in a tight Sub-State game played in the coliseum in Jackson.

UPPER RIGHT: In a tense semi-final game of the regional tournament, Margaret Taylor holds desperately to the ball as Munford's Mammie Brent reaches over her shoulders.

LOWER RIGHT: Lois Burgess, Covington's high scoring forward, pitches in two points over Somerville's Calentine Fields.

Only a Warm-up

UPPER LEFT: Even though playing Ripley on its home court in the District finals, Covington was able to make it a run away with basket bombings like this by senior forward Charl Lynn Blalack.

LOWER LEFT: Cathey Taylor has this sure rebound over Ripley's forward Martha Jackson.

With the arrival of first year coach Bill Bradley, Covington saw new life jump into the spirit of Covington High School basketball. All the basketball girls remembered his first bits of coaching: "Ladies, we're going to the state this year. I know we're going to be a good team, but I'm not satisfied with being just good, I want us to be great." Champions the Lady Chargers were, both in the District and in the Region. This marked the second consecutive year the Lady Chargers has won the District but it had been twelve long years since a team representing Covington in the Region could shout, "We're number one." Covington lost to tough Jackson Central Merry in Sub-State play, the first round play of the state tournament.

At the peak of their performance while participating in the District tournament, the Lady Chargers breezed past Crockett Mills 46-18, intimidated Somerville 54-36, and stomped Ripley 61-45 on its home court to claim the District 27 Championship. As the girls climbed the ladder to the top, they found victories harder to claim. Determination and the will to win proved to be the deciding factors in games played in the Regional tournament. Trailing by one point at half time, they fought their way to a 70-54 victory over Gadsden behind the record setting 56 points by Lois Burgess. The semi-final game with Munford showed the confidence, and poise of Covington, as they came from behind to win 40-39. One more close game was necessary before Covington could claim its first Regional trophy. As a result their first place ranking in Region 14 the Lady Chargers played Jackson in the coliseum. Things did not go their way, as the Lady Chargers lost to the powerful Lady Cougars 52-45. The girl's season will be remembered as one of Covington's best season for basketball.

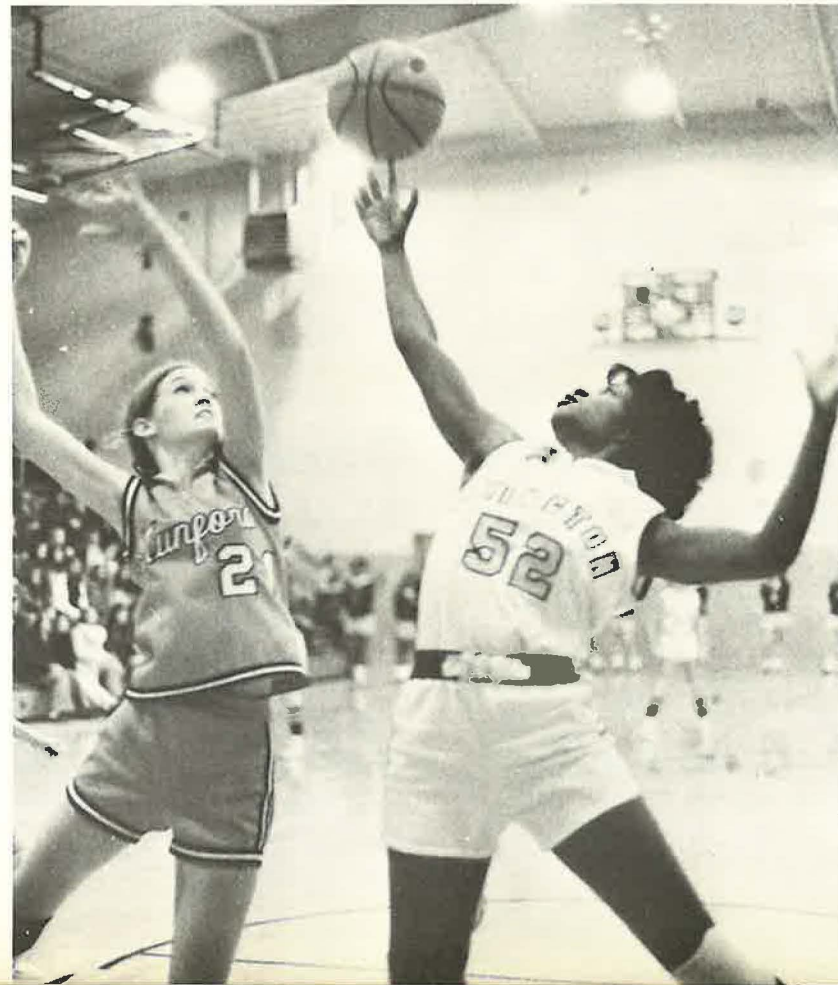

New Coach Brings

UPPER LEFT: Faye Claybon eludes two guards in a romp over first round action with Gadsen.

UPPER RIGHT: Shouts of, "We're number one," were heard ringing throughout the Ripley gym as the eight senior Lady Chargers accepted the District 27 first place trophy for the second consecutive year.

LOWER RIGHT: Teresa Elam battles tough Teresa Nearn of Munford for this rebound.

New Ways

UPPER RIGHT: Coffee break for Bill Bradley as he coached the Lady Chargers going and coming.

Chargers On The Move

Round Ball Takes

We came, we saw, we conquered. Yes indeed the Covington basketball teams did enjoy one of their better years. The boys' team while building an eighteen and eight record, were winners of the Millinton Invitational Tournament, finished second in the District Tournament and third in the Regional Tournament.

The Lady Chargers, nevertheless, continued their superiority over many of the West Tennessee teams.

The Lady Chargers, champions of the District and the Regional Tournaments and runner-up in the Sub-State, finished with a record of nineteen wins and five loses.

The banquet served as a time to discuss past glories and heartaches.

It was also a time to recognize eleven seniors, eight girls and three boys. Not only that but it was an opportunity to recognize those who had lettered during the past year. Trophies were given to those players who their team mates thought were most deserving.

LEFT TO RIGHT: Margaret Taylor received the Best Defensive Trophy while Lois Burgess earned the Most Valuable Trophy and the Best Free Throw Percentage Trophy. Lois was surprised at the banquet by being told that she had been selected to play on the West team in the T.S.S.A.A. East-West All Star game held this summer.

Its Last Fling

ABOVE: Walter Glass, Landon Smith and Tom Barton. Walter and Tom shared the Most Valuable Trophy as there was a tie in the voting. Landon Smith won both the Best Free Throw Percentage Trophy and the Best Defensive Trophy.

Baseball Team Springs Into Action

The Joiners

Rounding out the life of students at C.H.S. are the clubs. These provide an opportunity for students to broaden their interest in a certain field and enjoy fellowship with students with similar interests.

The joiners are those who have something to contribute to the school and who desire to see improvements made and are willing to work for them.

RIGHT: Everyone relaxes with a few friendly smiles and discussions after the last concert of the year. Here, Mr. John Prince, student teacher in the music department, and Mr. Phelps discuss the concert with students and friends. BOTTOM: "Would you call this a sensible, intellectual, and eager bunch of senior student council members?"

NHS Reorganized

Nationally recognized as an organization for students who exhibit exceptional scholastic records and leadership abilities is the NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY. Covington's Honor Society was reorganized at the beginning of the second semester. Junior and Senior members of this organization were initiated in March. To be eligible, a student must maintain a B average in grades and department. Sophomores who excelled academically were honored to be chosen as provisional members.

Closer Communication Achieved Through Council

Working to establish closer communications among students and faculty on the C.H.S. campus is the STUDENT COUNCIL. Officers and class representatives of this organization were chosen for 1972 by the direct vote of the students.

To encourage students to voice their opinions related to school functions, suggestion boxes were again used and a representative was assigned to each homeroom. The dress code was eliminated and blue jeans and fringed vests appeared everywhere. Spirited members sponsored a homecoming bonfire and painted the school sign a bright purple and gold. A monthly calender was drawn up containing the various school activities and delivered to every teacher. This year's STUDENT COUNCIL succeeded in arranging a better routine for final exams. The STUDENT COUNCIL of Covington High felt a great loss due to the death of one of their most active members, Leonard Smith. A book was placed in the library in his memory.

TOP RIGHT: Mrs. Hattye Tipton and Mrs. Dorothy Yarbrough, student council advisors, go through material before a student council meeting.

MIDDLE: Debbie Long, Vice-President; Cyndi Tanner, Secretary; and Gayla Hodge, President, stop for a brief chat with Mr. Cathcart.

BOTTOM: Members discuss policies brought up in student council meeting.

Council Improves Exams

CHS Dream Becomes Reality

A dream which began in the hearts of a few Christian C.H.S. students exploded into the reality of the C.H.S. PRAYER GROUP. The group began as a dozen or so students gathered every day before school for prayer and encouragement. As their number increased the cafeteria was secured as a meeting place. Devotionals, Bible study, and prayer were the basis of each day's programs.

As one of the most active organizations at our high school, this group held two car washes and two bake sales. In the late fall, approximately thirty of its participants loaded suitcases and sleeping bags for a weekend retreat at Victory Valley, outside of Memphis. A trip to Explo '72, a Christian convention in Dallas, Texas was planned for several representatives of the PRAYER GROUP. To raise money to send this delegation, these students challenged the Covington Jaycees to a basketball game and engaged in many other fund-raising activities. Christian booklets, tracts, newspapers, and stickers were read by many C.H.S. students as a result of the C.H.S. PRAYER GROUP's desire to share their faith in Jesus Christ.

'Hi' And 'Sis,' Huge Success

One of the most active clubs at Covington High this year was the DRAMA CLUB. Comprised of a group of high school students dedicated to the dramatic arts, the club's main goal during the year was to produce the comedy HI AND SIS IN NEW YORK.

Tryouts were held in early January and the cast spent the next two months in dedicated rehearsal under the direction of Mrs. Henry Tipton. During this time Mr. Herb Sennett, technical director for the play, kept other members of the club busy building the set, selling tickets, and securing the necessary props.

HI AND SIS IN NEW YORK, staged on March 2 and 3, brought much admiration for the DRAMA CLUB and its success proved individuals with different backgrounds and interests could work together for a common goal.

"Spirit" Fizzles, Sputters — Finally Produces Annual

A new year, new staff, new experiences, new ideas - these were the ingredients for THE SPIRIT OF '72. At the beginning of the year Nina Lee Braden and Lee Johnston, co-editors, challenged the staff by placing before them what was known as "Our Goal," to produce the greatest annual in the history of Covington High School. There were times when Nina Lee's quests for perfection seemed impossible but the staffers learned to encourage each other. In this way each came to know and understand the others better, not just as co-workers, but as people. Each staffer cried a lot, and as is true in any organization, a few people end up doing most of the work. As sponsors, Mrs. Fleming and Mrs. Canada took their rightful authority by almost reciting that unique phrase, "We can hear ya'll all the way down the hall!" Hard work has made THE SPIRIT OF '72 an object of pride among the student body of Covington. The staff hopes that with this annual they met each subscriber's highest expectation and succeed in recreating the Spirit of '72.

Paper Keeps Pace With Changes

As usual the SPOTLIGHT: C.H.S. rolled out its six issues full of club news, editorials, and gossip this year. Nineteen active staff members spent many busy hours interviewing personalities, making copy fit, and tallying opinion poll returns. There were many pushing and exasperating moments for the staff as they strove to meet each deadline. As a reward for their dedication these students, aspired in journalistic talents, gained a real sense of achievement and well-being from their work on the newspaper staff.

Band Keeps Pace Even Through Hardships

Unified is the best word to describe the Covington High band. This group was faced with unusual circumstances after director, Russell Phelps and his family were involved in an automobile accident early in the school year. The band carried on its duties under the direction of drum major, Ricky Sage. They marched at every football game, attended the usual contests, and had daily rehearsals. The band presented three concerts, sent a delegate to the All-West Tennessee Band and had a banquet in the spring. Needless to say, the situation could have been different if the band members had not been cooperative and felt a certain pride in their organization.

Chorus Carries Title

Covington High's Chorus for 1972 began its year with 106 members following the fall tryouts. This year more responsibility was placed on the individual member due to the frequent but unavoidable absences of Mr. Phelps. For the first time at C.H.S. the chorus had daily rehearsals. Somewhere between their many busy hours of practicing these dedicated chorus members managed to have a Christmas candle sell and hold a bake sale to help buy new music.

In December the chorus held a Christmas concert and after its thrilling climax presented their beloved director with a stereo. Another concert was given in the spring.

Something else that was new to all the chorus members was a student teacher. Mr. John Prince, a student at Union University majoring in music, was the first student teacher Mr. Phelps had ever had. It was something different for the students and I am sure it was quite a change for him.

As in past years our chorus was proud to have some of its members chosen to attend All-West and All-State Chorus. This year proved to be one of the luckiest ever. Delegates from the group also attended Quad-State and the Jackson Drive-In Conference. Maybe for all these reasons the Covington High School Chorus holds true to be the No. 1 Chorus.

Majorettes Practice Long Hours

The C.H.S. majorettes are a dedicated group. In July the majorettes attend a two-week twirling camp and then come home and are confronted with many long, hard and hot hours of practicing before the first football game. Majorettes are given special recognition on these two pages.

Future Farmers, Competent and Aggressive

Developing competent, and aggressive agricultural leadership is the Future Farmers of America. In November, the Covington FFA won first place in district five and third in West Tennessee. In livestock judging, Gregg Williams, president of chapter, was awarded third highest in the West Tennessee judging. In the dairy-judging contest the Covington FFA placed third and secured fourth place in the parliamentary procedure contest. In February and March the Chapter continued to add many awards to their collection of honors when they participated in the creed, public speaking and skill contest.

Broffitt Elected State Secretary

Representing the domestically inclined girls of Covington High School are the FUTURE HOME-MAKERS OF AMERICA. Nineteen-seventy two proved to be a year of exceptional involvement for this club. Following their initiation in late fall, the F.H.A. prepared food for the officials during the basketball tournaments. The organization sent representatives to district and regional meetings in Brighton and Nashville.

The highlight of their school year was National F.H.A. week, March 19-25. In observance of this special week a group of Junior and Senior F.H.A. members sponsored a fifteen minute broadcast over WKBL. They also displayed garments made in class in the window of a local fabric store, and colorful posters were placed in the hall of the Home-Ec. building.

The Sub-Regional F.H.A. Day was held at our school. Joyce Broffitt and Shirley Phillips were installed as District President and Secretary. Cookbooks and stationery were sold to help send eleven delegates to the State Convention. Joyce Broffitt, who received her State Degree, was elected State Secretary.

Students Experience Teaching

"... To provide a means for secondary school students to participate in making their education increasingly relevant to their present and future needs." This is the goal of the FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA. Members of this club actively cooperate with the faculty of Covington Grammar and Holmes Elementary Schools. Teaching in classes that range from kindergarten to the eighth grade, these students gain experience while enabling the regular teacher to extend his services.

MIDDLE: Debra Gagnon and Carla Turner help students with art at Covington Grammar School. BOTTOM: Mrs. Keith Scott discusses school assignments with Laura Ronk and Lynn Petty.

Board Brightens Library

Many students, who enjoy helping others, spend their free periods in the library assisting the librarians. Collectively they are known as the LIBRARY CLUB. Checking out and putting away books, and helping other students to find just the right book are some of their duties. To brighten the appearance of the library a new and colorful bulletin board is prepared each month by members of this club. Their work is greatly appreciated by every one who uses the library.

AIASA Aids Needy

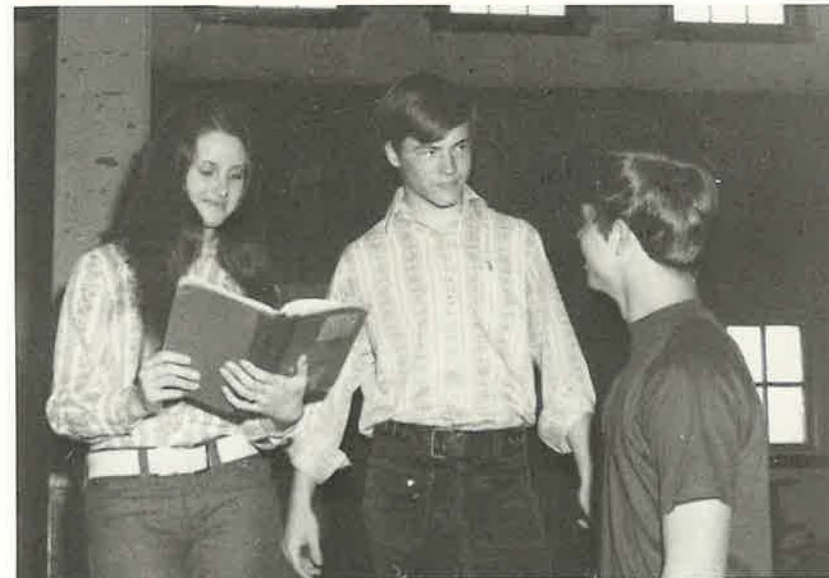

Sixteen active members formed the AMERICAN INDUSTRIAL ARTS STUDENT ASSOCIATION as it began its fourth year at Covington High. Projects of this year's club were giving Christmas packages to needy families of this area, planning a program for the P.T.A. assembly, and preparing projects to place on exhibit at the Industrial Arts Fair in Memphis, Tenn. A trip to Dallas, Texas to attend the National Industrial Arts Convention was also planned for selective members of this club.

Latin Club Relives Roman Holidays

Enthusiastic members of the LATIN CLUB celebrated the Feast of Lupercalia and observed the Ides of March this school term. During the football and basketball seasons colorful posters were prepared in Latin urging the Chargers on to Victory. In the meetings, plays were presented based on Roman and Greek history. Late April brought much excitement when a group of first and second year Latin students attended the Mid-South Latin Tournament. A picnic was planned in the spring to end another fun year for the Latin Club.

Cheerleaders Build Enthusiasm

"C..H..A..R..G..E..R..S
Chargers, Chargers, yes, yes, yes!" boomed the student body in response to Covington's spirited cheerleaders. The cheerleaders did a splendid job of building the student's enthusiasm and rousing Covington High's great teams to victory. Before each game these excited girls filled the halls with posters and banners. It was impossible to attend school and not know where and when the next game took place. Because of the dedication of the C.H.S. cheerleaders, pep rallies were anticipated by the student body and faculty alike. Their countless hours of practicing was evidenced by their performances.

SPONSORS' COMMENTS

As in any organization, when a job is to be done, there are a few who do all the work. This was the case with the 1971-72 annual staff, and for this reason the yearbook delivery is late.

We were faced with over a hundred pages still to be completed when the school term ended. The following students helped us put the annual together and we would like to give them a special "thank you": Georgie Goldsmith, Kathy Dickey, Penny Liles, and Ricky Sage. Though other people are given credit for completing certain sections of the annual, we want to thank these four people for working during their summer vacations when most of the pressure was on.

We apologize for any shortcomings but we did the best we could under the circumstances. We hope you enjoy the SPIRIT OF '72.
